ECZEMA!

For the benefit of suffering humanity, and in heartfelt gratitude at the wonderful result, I deem it only my duty to give this unsolicited testimony in favor of Swift's Specific. My wife has been afflicted with hereditary Eczema or Salt Rheum from her infancy. It has increased in intensity with each succeeding spring, and being somewhat skilled in medicine myself, I tried every remedy I could think of for years—Sarsaparilla compounded with every form of Potassia, and hundreds of other remedies, lotions and alkali washes of every known kind, but they all gave only temporary relief. During the spring of 1884 her lower extremities became so inflamed and sore that she was obliged to keep them constantly coated with a covering of Fuller's Earth, mixed wet and allowed to dry on. Among other things, she was afflicted with a periodical nervous headache, occurring regularly every seven days, sometimes followed by an intermittent fever for weeks at a time, so that her life became a burden to her.
This spring I determined she should take S. S. S. and follow strictly the directions in regard to dose, diet, etc. This was about seven weeks ago. After taking the first large bottle the disease seemed to increase the burning, itching and inflammation became unbearable. She, however, persevered in the use of the medicine. After taking the second bottle the inflammation began to subside. After the third bottle the inflammation disappeared and the sore spots dried up and turned white and scaly, and finally she brushed them off in an impalpable white powder resembling pure salt. She is now taking the sixth bottle three table-spoonfuls four times daily. Every appearance of the disease has gone, and her flesh is becoming soft, white and smooth again, and while is more perfect health headaches have disappeared and she is now at 53 years of age, enjoying the only good health she has known for upwards of 40 years. No wonder she declares with emphasis that every bottle of S. S. S. is worth a thousand times its weight in gold. Any further information concerning her case will be cheerfully given by herself at her residence, 115 M. Bell street, or by me.

MANUFACTURERS OF THE

Davis Patent Clapboard Machine.
The Davis Patent does away with Turning Works or Sapper, as it is provided with three sets of collars and sapping knives on the saw arbor, and saps the bolt at the same time it is sawing. The arbor extends across the Machine, and the saw is outside of the frame, which prevents the saw-dust from clogging the gearing; and, in changing saws, you simply take the nut off end of arbor, and remove collars and saw without disturbing arbor.
The saw runs 2200 revolutions per minute, and the Machine will cut from 5 to 8 M per day; an average of 500 per day over the old style machine.

STATE NEWS

Androscoggin.

The Barker Mill, Auburn, is running at its full capacity, and has been throughout all of the business depression. Treasurer Patsifer thinks that the outlook is brighter.

With a surveyor's chain, Saturday, the distance from the Auburn post office to the Lower Maine Central station in Lewiston, was chained off by the clerks. The distance is 102 rods. The railroad is obliged to deliver the mails where the distance is less than eighty rods.

A police officer who is visiting Lewiston from a town in Massachusetts, says that in his town of 1,000 voters, and with a license law, there are three men drunk on the streets a day to one in Lewiston, with a population over three times as great. He says that personal observation in Lewiston and during the National Encampment at Portland, convinces him that the Maine Prohibitory law checks intemperance and preserves law and order.

Highe, the forger, was brought up for examination in Lewiston, Saturday. F. L. King, of Portland, the victim, was present. Judge Dresser read the warrant. It charged him with the forgery of the name of Frank Spofford, of Sabattis, to an order for a $110 double seated beach wagon in February last. Highe pleaded not guilty, and asked that the hearing be delayed. It was postponed until next Saturday and bonds were placed at $500. One of the carriages which Highe obtained of Mr. King he sold to R. S. Bradbury, of Auburn, for $135. Mr. Bradbury paid him for it the sum mentioned, $135. A suit has been begun by Mr. King to recover the value of the carriage which he says he did not receive from Highe. The amount of Highe's dealings of this kind of business is stated by the officer to be over $1,000. He sold two carriages to Jones Edwards of Auburn, one to Spofford, of Sabattis, and several others.

Aroostook.

Henry Canty, of Masardis, who was reported last week as being seriously injured by a fall from a scaffolding, died two days later, reports the Herald.

Cumberland.

Mr. Herbert Robinson's little child fell thirty feet from a second story window in Portland, Friday, and escaped with slight injuries.

Saturday night, Archie Ward, the boy who was shot at Scarboro, was quite comfortable, with a reasonable prospect of ultimate recovery.

Mr. A. C. Pinkham, of Harpswell, lost a valuable gray horse, Friday. The animal was kicked and its leg broken by another horse in an adjoining stall, and consequently it had to be killed.

The quickest steamer trip between Eastport and Portland is said to have been made by the Cumberland in 11 hours, 30 minutes. The State of Maine made the trip in 12 hours, 15 minutes.

Canon Farrar has been invited to deliver a lecture in Portland under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, some time during his brief visit to this country, in October or November.

Capt. Charles Hilyard, at present in command of the State of Maine, served in the navy during the war of the rebellion, was captured in one of the unsuccessful attacks on Charleston and spent thirteen and one half months in Southern prisons.

Last night an officer discovered smoke issuing from the house of a prominent citizen, pulled the bell, and called the occupant's attention to the fact and was insulted for his pains. The police would be justified in giving that house a wide berth in the future.—Portland Sunday Times.

There arrived at Portland the past week, thirty-two vessels, the total of their fares aggregating 6,905 barrels. The schooners Gertie May and Mattie Dyer brought the largest, 350 barrels each, and the Jas. Warren and Annie Sargent, the smallest, 50 barrels. There has been a slight rise in the price of mackerel.

Hon. W. W. Bolster, says that the board of trustees of the State Reform School, of which he is a member, has examined and approved the system of water works introduced into the Reform School. The water is from Lake Sebago. The State appropriated $7,000 for its introduction. They have five pumps and hydrants. There are, at present in the school, 111 boys.

Mrs. Eliza Reed, a resident of Chicago, visiting her mother, Mrs. Nancy Howe, in Portland, was sitting Saturday forenoon talking with her nephew, when suddenly she exclaimed "I am sick, oh, I feel dreadfully," and fell to the floor. Help was immediately summoned, but before a physician arrived, she was dead. Mrs. Reed was about fifty-six years of age. Her sisters have been summoned, one from Chicago, and the other from Boston.

Miss Amelia J. Niles, a colored woman residing in Portland, was found dead, sitting on the side of her bed, in her own house, by Mrs. Ellen H. Carey, Sunday morning. Mrs. Cary immediately notified Dr. Palmer and Coroner Gould. The doctor after making an examination, and having been called a short time ago to prescribe for the deceased, came to the conclusion that she died from water around the heart, she having been dropsical for some time past. Coroner Gould did not consider an inquest necessary.

Franklin.

The clock committee have closed a contract with the Howard Clock Company for a tower clock to cost $500, to be ready for delivery in Farmington in about thirty days.

Rev. John Allen, "Campmeeting John," purposes to deed a strip of land adjoining the Methodist Episcopal church in Farmington to the church, if they will bear the expense of moving his house a short distance and meeting some other expenses, and they design acceptance, says the Pittsfield Advertiser.

The semi-centennial anniversary of the dedication of the Union church at Phillips will occur September 2d. Two of the singers who sung at the dedication fifty years ago, will be present. The fact that three denominations have peacefully occupied the same church for fifty years, deserves notice, says the Phonograph.

Hancock.

The ell part of Mr. Eli Dunham's house at Waltham, took fire recently, and before it was under control had damaged the house to the extent of $100, says the American.

A few days ago at East Bluehill, Susie Long was giving Mrs. Wilbur Wardwell's baby an airing; she left the wagon standing on the bank of the mill stream, and went a short distance to pick some wild pears; in the meantime the wagon started down the bank, ran into the stream and upset, throwing the baby into the water where it was about two feet deep. Susie waded off and drew her ashore, reports the American.

Kennebec.

The ponderous water wheel and connecting machinery for the new cotton factory at Augusta, arrived Saturday.

On Monday last, one of the Italians at work on the water works at Gardiner, had one of his feet and legs crushed by a big rock falling on him while at work in the trench.

Some ten bands have signified their intention to participate in the forthcoming band muster at Maranocook. Among them are Chandler's, Brunswick, Glover's and Bangor.

The fur goods found in a Farmingdale blueberry pasture, last week, have been identified as a portion of the property stolen several weeks ago from the house of Mrs. M. E. Robinson, in Litchfield, says the Kennebec Reporter. No clue to the house-breaker has yet been obtained.

The Y. M. C. A. of Augusta have made application to General Brown, to be allowed permission to occupy a tent on the muster grounds during the encampment, where they will have a supply of reading matter, toilet articles, and hold a song service each evening.

A few days ago, President Sewall and several directors of the Maine Central railroad were in Gardiner, looking over the prospects for a branch track along the Cobbossee as far as the upper dam. The plan was considered of building an extension of Jewett's siding, behind City Hall and through Mechanic street. If such a track was built it would not only be a great convenience to existing industries in the vicinity of New Mills, but would tend to induce manufacturers to build on the various dams, thus being of great benefit to the city.

Thirty five telephone subscribers at Gardiner, in answer to the circular of the Telephone Company, increasing the rates, have sent a communication to the manager of the company, which reads as follows: "Your circular notifying us that the yearly rates for the use of telephones will be raised on Sept. 1st, next, to ($45 00) forty five dollars, has been received. You will therefore please remove our telephone on that day, as we will not pay any advance or keep them even at the old price, unless your company will guarantee to us better condition of wires in the future than in the past, and a full use of the telephone between Gardiner and Bath."

Lincoln.

In the Congregational church in Wiscasset is a bell that tolled for every President of the United States since that of George Washington. The bell bears the imprint of Paul Revere of Revolutionary fame.

Piscataquis.

Jacob Perkins of Shirley, was ascending a ladder to a staging on his house, Saturday, and just as he reached the top, the ladder slid sideways and threw him to the ground, breaking a bone in his right shoulder in two places, and fracturing his ribs near the spine, says the Dexter Gazette.

Sagadahoc.

A meeting of the Good Templars of Sagadahoc county, is called to meet with Merrymeeting lodge of Bowdoinham, on Wednesday, Aug. 26th, at two o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of reorganizing the District lodge which has for some months been dormant. There are eleven lodges of the order reported in Sagadahoc county.

Somerset.

Last Friday night, the residence of Mrs. Haynes, at Skowhegan was entered through the cellar window and a quantity of bottled goods taken therefrom. The parties were traced to the Coburn woods and the plunder, and most of the stolen property was recovered.

Waldo.

A singular transaction took place in Liberty village one day last week. Two young, healthy robust looking men were hunting for an officer to arrest them as tramps and take them to jail. After much effort they succeeded in getting a sheriff from Searsmont to arrest them and a visiting justice to sentence them and they got what they wanted—a free ride to Belfast and a snug home in the jail during the hot weather, and the county has to foot the bills to the tune of about fifty dollars.

Washington.

An Eastport lady gives notice that she is not indebted to the town, that her real estate is free from debt, and she is prepared to attend to orders for dressmaking.

The bodies of Benj. Kelley and Orrin Wilbur, of Pembroke, who were drowned on Aug. 5th, in Dennys river, by the upsetting of their boat, mention of which was made by our Dennysville correspondent week before last, were picked up last Tuesday afternoon some three miles from where the accident happened.

A serious accident occurred at the Dalot Quarry, in Oldtown, on Tuesday, under the following circumstances. As Mr. Dalot was superintending the hoisting of a block of granite weighing nearly twenty tons the iron guys which supported the derrick suddenly parted, causing the huge spar to fall with a crash, striking George Wass, a workman, in the leg, breaking it in three places below the knee. A doctor was summoned and rendered the necessary aid. At last accounts the patient was in a comfortable condition.

York.

Friday afternoon, a young man attempted to jump from a car at a Biddeford depot before the train stopped, and fell between the train and the platform. He had presence of mind enough to roll under the platform and thus escape with no injuries, but his clothes were cut in several places.

A severe shower at Kennebunk, Saturday morning, brought powerful rain and severe lightning, one flash striking the house of Eben Emmons on the west side of the river. Besides causing considerable damage to the dwelling and killing a cat, it struck the bed upon which Mr. Emmons and wife were lying, splitting the head board and taking a six inch piece from the foot of a post. Mrs. Emmons was quite stunned by the shock, but her husband was relieved from the irritating and burning feeling which for some time has been attendant upon his much swollen dropsical legs.

A Round-up.

STIRRING SCENES ON A COLORADO RANCH—THE PICTURESQUE COWBOY FROM THE HUERFANO.

[New York Post.]

We saw the men standing about near the camp-fire in sleepy attitudes. Some of the horses are nibbling the bunch grass. The steam from the rapidly boiling kettle rises straight up in the air. As we continue to look there is more movement in the crowd of cattle. Those who have been lying down rise; now and then the sound of a resonant lowing comes up the slope to us. Suddenly the cowboy in the foreground begins loping toward us. It is plain that he has recognized Mr. Stewart.

"How picturesque! How magnificent!" murmurs my sister. "What a rider! A hero out of the Middle Ages! If he should woo a fair lady, how could he help winning? His moustache is sublime—and what is that rope twisted about the front of his saddle?"

Nan laughed jeeringly, as she answered, "Wait until you hear him speak. He does not talk much like 'Bret Harte's men,' neither does he speak undefiled English."

"And the rope?" persisted Emma. "Does he bind captive maidens with it?"

"He occasionally pulls about a refractory steer with that cord; in other words, he uses it mostly in 'cutting out.' Perhaps you will see him do it. Father, is the Orphan the master of the 'round-up' this time?"

Uncle Stewart nodded.

"What did you call him?" I asked quickly.

"The Orphan. He came from the Valley of the Huerfano, otherwise called Orphan. If he has a name, I never have heard it."

By this time the cowboy was near, and was addressing Mr. Stewart, while he stared at us.

"I was about dead sure it was you, Colonel, when I first sighted you. Come to squint at the cattle? We've got several hundred there that belong to General Malcolm, and there's a rousin lot of mavericks too." (I did not wonder Nan had said, "Wait until you hear him speak.") The Orphan's speech was very deliberate and his enunciation unmistakably American, although I could not quite decide in what part of America he was raised. His voice was both deep and nasal, and unquestioned to that degree that you would have said it was the tone in which a brute suddenly endowed with vocal powers would first use them. There was no modulation, no hint of a spirit divine in the owner. "Mavericks are stray calves," I softly muttered with the air of an interpreter.

Mr. Stewart conversed a moment with his master of the round up, and then, without speaking to us, the two rode down the hill and we followed at a short distance behind. We soon learned that the gathering of the cattle was to take place this day about noon in an enormous corral belonging to the Stewart estate. I was astonished to find such a large company. There are forty men, and each man has at least two horses and other men of a second degree to help them. There are cooks and herders, and I know not what. They must, in the course of their trip, go over the whole of the ranges and sweep all the cattle together. As many as four times a year the cattle owners wish to know something definite about their property, so the ranchmen unite in sweeping these organized scourings of the plains. The companies start systematically from a certain place and sweep all before them. And this process requires skill as well as the riding of hundreds of miles. It is not alone the riders who seem tireless, but the horses also. I used to question if any amount of going could "do up" a broncho as they call those animals, which are a cross between the mustang and the American horse. Not only can they cover a great number of miles, but they are extraordinarily agile, as they must be to twist about among the cattle, as they are so often compelled to do. "They have to turn round on a five-cent piece," said Nan expressively. There are several corrals on the Stewart ranch and to my surprise, after we had reached the camp, we were told that we would now ride on so as to be on the spot in time. We were not to go with the cattle after all. I had in some vague way supposed that a round up was riding with a vast herd of animals, and being in constant danger of a stampede. I was afraid this trip would be rather tame after all, only nothing can be tame on these limitless plains, within sight of the Imperial mountains.

We saw the men mounted, and heard the Orphan shouting directions. The whole plain full of cattle started as if moved by some mysterious and irresistible influence and not by the specks of men galloping here and there. Why should they obey such a small controlling force? Why not scatter and lunge here and there at their own wild will?

"Come on."

It is Uncle Stewart who shouts, for we women have been sitting turned in our saddles, looking at the herd with fascinated eyes. We all canter briskly forward, and leave the drove out of sight behind us. We reach the corral an hour before noon, and devour eagerly a luncheon which the man living there provides for us, with many apologies and asseverations that he would not expected no women folks. We leave the horses to their dinner, and walk away to the immense corral, now entirely empty. As we wait we get more and more excited. Cousin Nan says there is nothing in the slightest degree exciting about the thing unless the cattle break away and they never do that, "They are just driven in here, that's all."

"You speak as if it were a matter of half-a-dozen cows on a Massachusetts farm," said Emma indignantly, "but please remember that we were not brought up on round-ups."

We watch the vanishing point of the plain in the direction where we expect to look, and when we see the dust rising, we exclaim, and bend eagerly forward. Yes, there is the vanguard, the horsemen riding quickly forward, but not appearing to hurry. In a moment more the dark, moving body comes in sight. It is compact and comes down under thorough discipline, the mass growing thicker and blacker, and at last the tossing horns becoming visible. Soon we hear the shouts of the rancheros. For an instant I imagine there is an erratic movement among the animals, and the horror of a stampede is before my imagination. But no, on they come as if they give to my mind such an effect of great force, it seems no less than a miracle that they are so governed. The whole plain, to my excited fancy, is alive with horned cattle. When the ranks open here and there, I see a calf frisking across a little space. Sometimes a mighty bull tosses up his head and bellows. Cousin Nan looks calmly on, but the very sight of so much life, so disciplined, and yet so wild: the shining eyes, for the sun is in the faces of the cattle, the tossing heads, the sound of trampling feet, make the scene full of interest to me. The herd deploys into the corral, which is so large that I was sure there could not be cattle enough to fill it, but it seems now to be swarming with heads and horns. The bars are fastened. We have seen a round up. For the sake of telling it, I now almost wish I had experienced a stampede.

PILES! PILES! PILES!
A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.
NO ONE NEED SUFFER.
A sure cure for Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. William's, an Indian Remedy, called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 or 30 years standling. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Indian Pile Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts, and for nothing else.
Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment: "I have used scores of Pile Cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. William's Indian Ointment."

A CHANCE TO WIN $500.
The results from the use of the extract of the South American Moxie Nerve Food Plant, have excited most decided curiosity, New England the last ten weeks, as never before. We are a people with worn out nerves, abused with stimulants, drugs, morphine, severe mental and excitement and sexual excesses. This food can recover the whole field. Though harmless as milk inside of eleven weeks it has cured alone, it has recovered 800 cases of nervous and mental exhaustion from one to twenty years standing. Some were helpless, two mentally imbecile, three had paralysis, one was blind, two cases of insanity were cured in Boston, but the friends will not allow use of names, both in high life. It makes healthy people clear-headed, vigorous, and able to stand twice their usual labor with less fatigue. Continued, it blunts exhaustion of brain and nerves from excessive labor. It stops nervousness, and gives an immense appetite. Lowell, alone, has taken 43,000 bottles in ten weeks. As we have no room for testimonials we offer $500 to any person who can show our statements to be untrue. Eleven old drunkards say it stops the rum thirst. For sale by all apothecaries and grocers. 35 cents a quart bottle, $4 50 a dozen. Double extracts 70 cents, and $5 00 a dozen. People say it is the best beverage in America. The soda fountains have it.

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C A BOUTELLE Editor

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr and communications intended for publication should be addressed, "Editor of Whig & Courier."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1885.

In its report of the Democratic State convention, the Cincinnati Enquirer makes the satirical remark that "Frank Hurd was mentioned once in the convention, when they were making calls for everybody."

The New York Evening Post says that "having elected Cleveland as a reformer the Democrats cannot turn about and condemn him because he is a reformer." No and they won't be brought to face any such embarrassment.

It is said that one of the reasons why Mr Dorsheimer bought the New York Star was that he might have an opportunity to talk back to Mr Pulitzer of the World. There is no love lost between the two men and if they get into a discussion it will be a lively one.

The directors of the Dakota University at Mitchell, in that Territory, have resolved to encourage the establishment and endowment of a Grant Memorial of Science and Industry including schools of civil and military engineering, tactics, mining, agriculture, mechanics and science applied to the practical callings of life.

The free trade organs of the Mugwump persuasion have frequently taken occasion to express their admiration of Senator Edmunds, but it is a noticeable fact that they carefully omit any reference to his emphatically expressed opinion that England, on account of business depression caused by over-production, will be obliged to return to a protective policy.

Commissioner Black's latest charge against Miss Sweet, the pension agent at Chicago—that she has been carrying on her rolls as pensioners 500 men who had no right to be there—turns out, says the Philadelphia Press to be little less than a malicious fabrication. It is a fabrication and the malice follows by presumption. If Black has any blood in his veins he should blush for himself.

The New York World significantly remarks "Vice President Hendricks and Mrs. Hendricks were favored with a grand reception at Waukesha, Wis., Thursday evening. Mr Hendricks has not yet thrown himself in the public service, and his 'vacation' is devoted to making friends rather than catching fish. Mr Hendricks is very popular in the West."

As a rule the more candid Democratic papers find very little encouragement in the political situation in Ohio. Referring to the report that the President will visit that State during the campaign to arouse enthusiasm in the party ranks, the New York Herald says "It strikes us that it would not be wise for the Administration to place all its eggs in the Ohio basket this year. The failure of indorsement at the polls under such circumstances would be to say the least discouraging."

It is amusing to note how quiet the Cleveland organs remain on the subject of absenteeism. When we had a Republican Administration if one of the officials left the Capital for twenty four hours it was commented upon but now the President and almost his entire Cabinet are off on a vacation and yet not a word is said. It makes a great difference to these organs whether the absentee is a Republican or Democrat.

In spite of the assertions that harmony prevails in the Democratic party as regards the treatment of the tariff question next winter, Mr Henry Watterson, the rampant free trader, has on his war paint and a Washington despatch says that it may be set down as altogether probable that the House next winter will be the theatre of one of the most desperate assaults that have ever been made by the free trade Democrats upon the American policy of protection to American labor and industries.

The recently appointed Superintendent of the Philadelphia mint is following the Democratic campaignery of "turn the rascals out" but unfortunately for his party the rascals are not Republicans. They are genuine typical Democrats, appointed by the present Democratic Superintendent of the Mint on first-class Democratic recommendations, and discovered, even in this short time, to be unfit persons to be trusted in a place where there is so much to tempt their cupidity as there is in the United States mint.

A Washington despatch to the New York Evening Post says "Commissioner Black is firmly impressed with the idea that the pension business of the country should be carried on by veterans. When changes are made this object will be kept prominently in view. Just now Commissioner Black is showing his regard for the veterans by trying to secure the removal of a gallant soldier's daughter from the Chicago pension office by most cowardly and false insinuations.

Commenting upon the Mullen pardon, the Philadelphia American remarks "A more scandalous case we do not remember in the annals of recent politics, and it is not the defeat of justice in this case that is its worst feature. It will be understood by Bourbon workers everywhere that they need have no fear of this Administration. The worst offences against free elections, short perhaps of murder, will be tenderly considered at Washington; and whatever the President can do to shield their perpetrators, will be done for them. With such a precedent as to what we may expect of this Administration, the work of maintaining the popular confidence in free institutions for the next four years is not likely to be an easy one."

"A gentleman occupying one of the most responsible positions under the Government, who has been identified with Democratic politics in New York for the past fifteen years," denies the reported rupture between the President and Mr. Tilden, and says, "He [Tilden] is, I am sorry to say, and I know what I am talking about, absolutely incapacitated mentally from giving any attention to the policy of the President." This manner of disposing of the troublesome rumors concerning the alleged dissatisfaction of Mr. Tilden not only tends to confirm the report, but will not be pleasing to the great body of Democrats who for years have drawn their inspiration from the Greystone sage. The prominent official did well to suppress his name.

In the matter of fourth class postmasters one will find the real policy of the Administration. These officers have no fixed terms and such appointments are not subjected to the scrutiny of the Senate, consequently we hear of wholesale removals every day. If the Administration believed in civil service reform these officials would not be removed to make room for Democrats simply because they are unprotected.

The discharge of trained railway clerks and the substitution for them of inexperienced and incompetent men is having its natural results. The recent mail blockade—occasioned by the washout on the New York Central—is attributed to this cause. Passengers and baggage were got around the break and forwarded, but the mails were suffered to accumulate.—Boston Journal.

Mr. Vilas' idea of maintaining the "high standard" of the service may be satisfactory to the hungry Democrats looking for a Government position, but business men are anything but pleased with it.

The free traders of this country get much of the material that is circulated among the people as "arguments" against the protective policy from the Cobden Club, of England, and yet the London Economist of a recent date gave the President of that club a sharp overhauling for his misleading statistics as follows "We feel that we owe an apology to our readers for afflicting them by the production of such a farrago of nonsense as this. From beginning to end it is a tissue of wild hypotheses and misstatements, and we venture to say there is not one of the figures which Mr Chamberlain quotes, with perhaps the one exception of the amount of the year's revenue, which, if challenged, he could show to be even approximately correct."

A Nashville despatch to the New York Times states that in Humphreys county, Tenn., a negro who recently attempted to escape from a crowd who intended to administer a beating to him was shot, and the next morning his body was found near his cabin; that another negro Samuel Fow was dragged from his bed by seven disguised men who took him to the woods and gave him more than 100 blows with iron wood switches, lacerating his back horribly; that a third negro West Regan, was given twenty lashes by the same crowd, and warned to leave the county, and that John Gorin, a colored school teacher has received a note warning him to leave the county or take the consequences. In copying these reports from our Mugwump contemporary, says the Boston Journal, we trust that we shall not be accused of "waving the bloody shirt" or doing anything to disturb the "era of reconciliation."

The Democrats are doing everything in their power to prove the truth of the statement that they cannot be trusted. Illustrations of the insincerity of the party are a daily occurrence in Washington, and now the Democrats of Iowa have forcibly shown their absolute dishonesty. A few weeks ago the Greenbackers nominated a portion of a State ticket, leaving the other places blank, in the hope of a fusion with the Democracy. One of their nominees is ex Congressman Gillett, for Lieutenant Governor, and known as one of the most strenuous advocates of the prohibitory law in the State. The Democrats are bitterly opposed to prohibition, and they demand the repeal of the law in their platform. In order to carry out the fusion with the Greenbackers, however they had to put Gillette on their ticket for Lieutenant Governor. So the Democrats present the spectacle of running an earnest promoter and defender of the prohibitory law on a platform which peremptorily demands the repeal of the statute.

When the Custom House appointments were made late in June the Evening Post remarked, "Mr. Beattie the new surveyor is also well known and has precisely the qualities necessary to make him a valuable officer." It now feels constrained to remind him that he is not put into the surveyor's office to run it as he pleases, but as the law requires. "He seems," it adds, "to have entered upon his duties with the curious idea, which is a very common one among politicians, that the civil service law is not a real one, to be obeyed like other laws but a kind of fancy law to be winked at good naturedly and ignored whenever the interests of the party require it." Indeed. Yet this public was informed barely six weeks ago on the authority of the Evening Post that this was an ideal appointment, as Mr. Beattie had "precisely the qualities necessary to make him a valuable officer." Who would have suspected that the ideal candidate for surveyor might possibly consider the examinations "scholastic humbug" and make a fantastic use of them in order to set himself above the civil service law?—Tribune.

Edward Simmons President of the New York Stock Exchange is enjoying a vacation at his residence at Lake George. Referring to the use of his name in connection with the Collectorship of the Port of New York, Mr Simmons said to a New York World correspondent "Samuel J Tilden, as a matter of fact, indorsed me for that place and wrote a personal letter to Mr Cleveland, which I saw. I cannot account for the non recognition of this recommendation. I presume that certain political complications caused the President to believe that it would be inexpedient to comply with Mr Tilden's desire. I have not seen Mr Tilden but once in two months and do not know his views, but it would be remarkable if he did not feel somewhat disappointed, but I do not think there has been any breach or open quarrel." Mr Simmons certainly ought to know what he is talking about, and his statement that he saw the letter which Mr Tilden wrote the President in his behalf, completely disposes of the statement of the prominent official who said "So far as his naming any persons for the port appointments in New York, there is no truth in the charge." The eagerness displayed by this official, who owes his appointment to President Cleveland, to make light of the reported rupture shows that the report must be well founded.

The Act of a Small Man.

[Lowell Courier.]

Pension Commissioner Black is about as poor a specimen of a man as any taken in by this Administration. He did his little best in an attempt to remove Miss Sweet, the agent at Chicago, and not succeeding has adopted new tactics in an effort to worry her out. The other day a despatch appeared, intimating, if it did not directly charge, that 500 persons were drawing pensions at Chicago illegally. Of course this would be a bad thing for Miss Sweet, if it were true. But the fact is that the law directs that if a person fails to claim a pension for three years the name shall be dropped, but if a pensioner dies or a widow remarries and the fact is reported the name is dropped at once. A good many cases of this sort are not reported and the names are borne on the rolls according to law. On the Chicago pension list there are just 540 such names, a number almost identical with that mentioned in the despatch. Of course no money is paid out on the names and there is no irregularity. But it suits the pension commissioner's purpose to convey a wrong impression in the hope that the plucky agent may give up in disgust.

Hoadly to Run Again.

[Philadelphia Press.]

The Ohio Democrats have nominated Governor Hoadly for another term. There was no other eligible candidate willing to accept the position. The attempt to force the honor upon ex-Senator Thurman lacked sincerity from the start. He was sagacious enough to see that if the prospects of the Democrats were good his name would be the last one the ring in control of the party would allow at the head of the ticket. His firmness in refusing to be used as a catspaw by the men who have delighted in humiliating him was, therefore, only natural. With Thurman out of the way, no one was left but Hoadly. Eight months ago the latter began making positive statements of his intentions not to be a candidate again. His party, however, understood their man well, and as they pressed their suit his refusals became fainter until he expressed a willingness to accept if the nomination was given with a reasonable show of unanimity. From that day the result was foreshadowed clearly.

Governor Hoadly's administration has been in no sense a success. The actual power of the Governor of Ohio is small, it is true, but he can, if he so wills, exert a potent influence for good upon his party, and this Mr. Hoadly has not done. To gain the object of his ambition, he allied himself with the worst element in the Democratic party of Ohio. He was willing to serve as a figure-head for one of the most corrupt and reckless rings which the politics of this country has known provided he was honored with the governorship of a great State and consequently he has no defense if his administration is identified with that ring. The Legislature which came into power with him was the most venal which the recent politics of Ohio has seen.

It began by electing the head of the gigantic Standard Oil monopoly to the United States Senate and in its life of two years there is not more than one redeeming feature. During Hoadly's term all the state institutions have been reorganized in the interest of the Democratic party and their expenses largely increased. The Scott liquor law with its $2,000,000 of revenue has also been swept from the statute books, and no measure to take its place has been devised. In no direction in fact has Governor Hoadly shown a disposition to lead his party towards better things.

The chief points of interest about the platform centres in what it does not say. It is profoundly silent in respect to civil service reform. The Administration is indorsed in a perfunctory way, and congratulations scattered freely over the accession of a Democratic President, but not a word is uttered in approval of any attempt to take the offices out of politics. The Ohio Democrats have no love for this movement, and they are willing to let their dislike be known. In dealing with the tariff the platform is thoroughly dishonest. The claim is made that "the Democratic party is and always has been the party of the people and of the agricultural and wool growing interests." This is a stupid attempt to deceive. The resolution promising to regulate the liquor traffic, also will excite a smile when contrasted with the steady hostility of the Democrats to all laws restricting the free sale of intoxicants.

The tickets and platforms of the two parties are now before the voters of Ohio. The Republicans have the prestige of the success they gained last year in that State and the knowledge that the tide is evidently with them again this year. They are united, have a strong ticket and the disposition to make an aggressive fight. The issues which brought them disaster two years ago will now operate in their favor. In only one direction is there danger. If a large number of well meaning Republicans should decide to vote the Prohibition ticket it might end in a Democratic victory. Fortunately such a result is not probable and the exposure now being made of the record and purpose of the political Prohibitionists will no doubt, end in a smaller temperance vote than usual. The Democracy have anticipated defeat and are consequently dispirited and disorganized, and can offer no successful resistance to the united Republicans.

A Valuable Work

[Washington Chicago Inter Ocean.]

Secretary Endicott's order sending the fancy men of the army to the frontier includes several very worthy officers who have been detailed for specially laborious work here in Washington. Among them is Colonel R. N. Scott who has the editing of the war records. He is a thorough student and close worker. His ten or twelve volumes have been highly praised and are now the finest books published by the Government, it being almost impossible to secure them. Of course, in these war records the rebel archives are being published pari passu with those of the Federal service. To these there is objection on the part of several ex-Confederate gentlemen now high in the official personnel of this Administration. They do not care to have their treasonable records blazoned before the world. They would, therefore, prefer to see Colonel Scott pack up and go West, and in the course of a few months make a push in Congress to choke off the war records from further publication. Colonel Scott has been temporarily excepted from Secretary Endicott's order, but it is not with the consent or good feeling of a number of prominent officials.

SILSBY'S PIANO, ORGAN AND FURNITURE POLISH.

The attention of the public is respectfully called to the above Polish. Having been used and thoroughly tested for several years in the Music Rooms of Mr. Silsby it is confidently recommended as being much superior to anything else in the market. Its special points of superiority over all other polishes are as follows, viz:

1st—It is perfectly harmless, and will not penetrate or injure the most delicate wood or highly polished surface.
2d—It readily cleanses the surface and when rubbed dry forms a thin, hard coating which we believe has not been equalled for durability or brilliancy of lustre!
3d—It is easily applied!

The great importance of using an ingredient that will successfully destroy the penetrating elements which are used in the various kinds of polish, cannot fail to be appreciated! Do not fail to try a bottle. You will certainly never allow yourself to be without it after once giving it a trial!

Ask your Grocer for Silsby's Polish. PRICE 35 CENTS. The trade are requested to write for special prices by the dozen or gross.

THE LOMBARD INVESTMENT CO.

The system of placing loans by responsible Agencies on Farm and City property in the West has become so well understood and appreciated of late as to exercise no little surprise when the magnitude of such investments is learned as made by Savings Banks and other careful investors.

Investigation will show that this method of loaning money, in view of its safety and the fair returns assured, has become so popular that many parties and persons are changing their investments from a very low to a more satisfactory rate of interest.

The Lombard Investment Company, of Boston, by 30 years experience, without having lost a dollar for their patrons, commend themselves to the confidence of those wishing to improve by increasing their income.

The undersigned has consented to act as agent for the Company named, and will explain methods and place loans when desired, without expense to the investor.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capital.

Report from Consul-General Waller.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. Consul-General Waller, of London, has submitted to the State Department a general report on the qualities of tannic extracts, sumac, chestnut and hemlock as manufactured and imported into Great Britain and consumed in Great Britain. The use of oak bark and oak wood extracts is increasing and the use of hemlock extracts correspondingly decreasing. This arises from a growing prejudice of the trade here against leather of a reddish tint. The importation of any of these woods or extracts from the United States is surprisingly small. The prevalent impression is that they can be procured more cheaply elsewhere. This misunderstanding, at least to some of them, ought to be overcome by American enterprise.

Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims

First Comptroller Durham and Solicitor McCue had a conference with acting Secretary Fairchild last evening in regard to a settlement of the expense accounts of the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims, which are alleged to indicate very loose and extravagant business methods on the part of the court. The result of the conference is not positively known but it is understood that the First Comptroller was advised to disallow a large number of items in the accounts aggregating many thousand dollars, including large fees for several special attorneys, the necessity for whose employment is questioned by the accounting officers. An official statement in regard to the matter will be made at the Treasury Department.

A Ruling that will Embarrass the Court

The First Comptroller of the Treasury to-day made a ruling that is likely to embarrass the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims for some time to come. It is in effect that the employment of twenty-four persons borne on the rolls of court is entirely without warrant and that no payments can be legally made from the Treasury on their account in future.

The following is a list of the employes on the regular pay rolls of the court who are affected by the Comptroller's decision: James J. Goodrich, expert in insurance, at an annual salary of $4,200; Walker Blaine, assistant counsel for the United States, $3,500; Wm. P. Hexford, deputy clerk, $3,500; Andrew H. Allen, disbursing agent, $2,000; Eugene Rosis, clerk to counsel for the United States, $2,0[illegible]; Frank D. Lunt, first assistant to expert in insurance, $2,00[illegible]; A. P. French, clerk to Judge, $2,000; Elmer E. Hilden, second assistant to expert in insurance, $1,800; French G. Goodwin, third assistant to same, $1,8[illegible]; Henry O'Connor, Jr., clerk in the clerk's office, $1,600; Fred Chaplin, clerk to same, $1,[illegible]; Amos D. Allen, clerk to same, $1,400; Geo. Cowill, clerk to expert in insurance, $1,400; Wm. Haywood, clerk to counsel for the United States, $1,400; A. B. Nichols, clerk in the clerk's office, $1,2[illegible]; John Martin, messenger, $720; W. H. Forrest, janitor, $720; C. W. Towney and Felix Muldoon, watchmen, $720 each; A. L. Jackson and A. F. Alexander, messengers, $400 each; W. P. F. Churchill and Hugh Griffin, messengers at $460; Annie Boylein, servant, at $8 per month.

Following is a list of persons who have been employed as assistant counsel in special cases: Charles Hamlin, Alex H. Hobbs, Godfrey Morse, Chas. C. Suydam, Wm. E. Spear, John T. Whittaker, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Chas. T. Bonney, Wm. N. Morrow, Geo. G. Frelinghuysen, James H. Heverin, Geo. M. Seeders, Edmund J. Moffat, Wallace H. White, Samuel Pard, Thomas Cobb and B. P. Carpenter.

The Comptroller says all the above named employes have been paid out of the provisions of the organic account authorizing the payment of rent, stationery, printing, and other necessary incidental expenses. The accounts of the disbursing agent have been settled up to March 31 last and the salaries of persons on the pay rolls have been paid up to June 30. The requisitions which have just been refused were for the expenses including salaries for the month of July.

The Ute Trouble

The report of Gen. Miles upon the condition of the Southern Utes in Colorado was received at the Interior Department this morning. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs immediately instructed the agent to secure supplies for the Indians. Bureau officers say the trouble was caused by deficient appropriations for the purchase of food supplies. The Department has endeavored to distribute the amount of the appropriations throughout the fiscal year, but to avert starvation among the Indians it has been found necessary to expend more than the limited amount set apart for each quarter and rely on Congress to make good the deficiency.

American Leather Abroad

The State Department sent circulars to the various United States Consuls, asking for information in regard to the shoe and leather trade in the various districts in which they are located and responses to these circulars are now being received. Consul Harper at Munich says of the trade in Germany: "German manufactures have during the last decade, made rapid progress in this industry. There have been founded large factories that produce first rate goods, quite equal to those produced in other countries. No money has been spared to introduce the very best machinery. Representatives of the most prominent houses have been sent to America, England and France to study the trade and its bearings. The American method of manufacture has had the special attention of the leading firms. The result is that many factories are completely furnished and conducted on American plans. In fact, the German manufacturers are endeavoring to elevate their production to the highest degree of perfection. The time is not far distant when German machine sewed ladies goods will be found in the West End shops of London."

Consul Russell writes from Liverpool: "American leather is sent here with a quantity of waste attached which English tanners would render into glue and not be at the trouble and expense of tanning. There is something in the American process which robs the pelt of a large portion of its gelatinous parts and makes the texture dry. It is found necessary for buyers of American sides, before they can be used, to rid them of much offal before they cut them up. This is waste. It would enhance the value of the sides if American tanners would cut these off and make glue pieces of them. * * * There are no bona fide American made boots sold here, though there are several so-called American stores. The goods sold in them are manufactured, as the proprietors say, on the American principle. There are no import duties upon leather, either raw or manufactured."

Consul Malmros, writing from Leith, says as to the best means for the introduction and enlargement of the American leather trade: "From conversations held with competent judges amongst leather merchants and manufacturers here, I believe that trade in American leather could be introduced in places where it is not already established, and could be enlarged in other places, were efforts made to improve the qualities. Were the American producer or exporter more in contact with the wholesale dealers in this country than with factors of the ports of import, it would incite those wholesale dealers to push their goods with greater vigor. If the American exporters were to distribute their exports to this country over a greater number of ports of import, so as to suit the various districts, it would be more advantageous. Further, it is believed that trade in American leather would be increased were premiums offered for the production of well preserved hides."

Washington Notes

Counsel Mason to-day cabled that in Marseilles there had been a daily average of 53 cholera deaths during the past five days. There were 25 deaths in Toulon yesterday.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Found Guilty of an Assault.

GREENFIELD, Aug. 25. The jury to-night returned a verdict of guilty of assault with a pistol against Mrs. Dora Woodward of Zoar, the woman who some weeks ago shot and severely wounded a young man named Allen, who, she alleges, came to her house with two other youths, insulted herself and daughter with epithets and threatened to outrage the [illegible] The defense endeavored to establish the theory of self-defense, but the government showed by the defendant's own testimony that she had been a tobacco smoker and chewer since infancy, had been addicted to the use of profanity, and vulgarity and [illegible] Sentence was deferred.

WILD WINDS.

A Loss of $1,000,000.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 25. Charleston was struck by a cyclone this morning and one-fourth of the houses in the city are unroofed. Parts of the spires of St. Nicholas and St. Matthews churches were blown down and the spire of the Citadel Square Baptist church demolished. Wharves and warehouses were badly damaged. At Sullivan's Island two steamers are aground and the new Ashley river bridge, now constructing, was swept away. Four vessels which arrived yesterday are wrecked. Telegraph wires are down and no cars running. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

Another Report.

SULLIVAN'S ISLAND, S. C. Aug. 25. The hurricane last night and this morning was terrible and destructive. A number of houses on Sullivan's Island were blown away. The Brighton Hotel had over one hundred guests and fears were entertained for their safety. About 9 A. M. the storm reached its greatest velocity. At that hour while the hotel people were at breakfast the casino fell with a great crash. Fortunately all the rooms in the building had been vacated. At 9 o'clock the wind changed and the storm increased.

When the Casino fell it is thought the maximum of the storm was from 65 to 70 miles per hour. The main building of the hotel is intact having stood the storm without serious damage. It is said the present storm was the most violent in 30 years. At [illegible] entirely over. The loss to the New Brighton will be $40,000. There has been a very general destruction of property on the island but the people are profoundly grateful that their lives have been saved. The island was in the main submerged but when the wind changed the waters receded.

Hard Experience

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 25. The name of the lady injured by the blowing down of the Atlantic House at Mayport in the gale yesterday is Mrs. Gilbert Hunter. All the guests of the house, about thirty women and children, were exposed for hours to the furious driving wind and rain. News from Fernandina shows great damage to buildings, boats and shipping and guests at the Strathmore House on the beach were driven into town for refuge. No lives were lost.

New York Republican State Committee

SARATOGA, Aug. 25. The Republican State Committee met here to-day. Andrew S. Draper was not present and the Secretary read Mr. Draper's resignation as Chairman of the Executive Committee and member of the State Committee which was accepted. A resolution was adopted that all voters whose general intention is to act with the party be invited without regard to any so called fundamental test, to attend and take part in the primaries. It was decided to hold the State Convention at Saratoga September 22d.

The Property of a Prominent Citizen Attached for $10,000

BROCKTON, Mass., Aug. 25. Bridgewater has a rich topic for neighborhood gossip in the suit for $8,000 and attachment for $10,000 just entered by James L. Leach against Samuel Keith, a former selectman and one of the solid men of the town. The charge is defamation of character, Mr. Leach alleging that Mr. Keith has given currency to the story that the former burned his own barn in order to get the insurance upon it. The history of the case as Mr. Leach relates it is that on the evening of August 12 the present month he and his son returned from Brockton in their carriage.

On arriving at the barn they noticed that the door was partly open. As they drove in a thump sprang out so suddenly that the horse jumped and overturned a lighted lantern upon a pile of straw upon the floor. Before Mr. Leach could quench the flames the straw was all ablaze, the fire spreading so rapidly that the whole barn, with its contents, was destroyed, only the horse escaping. The barn was insured for $1,800 and the policy was settled to-day, an agent of the company having made a careful inquiry into the case. It seems that the peculiar origin of the fire, together with the fact that this was the third catastrophe of the kind that has occurred upon the same site in the last dozen years, gave rise to some unpleasant criticism among the townspeople. Among others Samuel Keith was reported to have circulated unfavorable reports, and upon information which he deemed satisfactory, Mr. Leach entered suit and placed the attachment as already stated.

MONTREAL'S TERRIBLE SCOURGE

Alarming Increase in the Number of Small Pox Cases Last Week

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 25. One hundred and seventy-three new cases of small pox in the city were reported at the Board of Health last week, and 77 deaths, principally of children up to the age of 10 or 12 years. The masses have become anxious to be vaccinated, and all the doctors are kept busy. One of the public vaccinators had to send for the police to keep the crowd of both sexes around his office this morning in order. Manufacturers, merchants, newspaper publishers and all who have many persons employed, pay medical men for vaccinating the employes in their place of business. Any one refusing is immediately discharged and heads of families who have small pox in their families are not allowed to mix with the hands in the factories, but get their pay just the same. Additional hospital accommodation has been provided, and no expense is being spared to combat the terrible scourge and stamp it out.

MARRIAGE BELLS

The Frelinghuysen Coates Wedding

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25. The marriage this morning of Miss Alice Coates, daughter of Mr. James Coates, of Providence, of the firm of J. & P. Coates, of Scotland and grand daughter of Sir Peter Coates, of Auchendrane, Ayrshire, Scotland, to Mr. Frelinghuysen, son of the late Secretary of State, was the most distinguished event of the season. The fact that the bridegroom had but recently lost his father prevented any special elaboration of the preparations, but the arrangements at the house were nevertheless of a very elaborate character. The wedding ceremony took place at Cary Villa, which is occupied by the bride's parents. The floral decorations were very magnificent indeed. Every portion of the house was beautifully decorated. The pair were joined by Rev. Thatcher Thayer, an ex-pastor of the United Congregational church. The couple left for Boston en route for New York whence they will sail on Saturday for Scotland. They will pass their honeymoon on Sir Peter Coates' estates.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.

The Parker Bequest

BOSTON, Aug. 25. By agreement between the trustees of Dartmouth College and the heirs and executors of the late Judge Joel Parker, who left $50,000 to found a law school in connection with Dartmouth College law school, the project has been given up. This agreement provides that the entire Parker fund shall be used to endow a professorship of law and political economy in the college and if the income exceeds the demands of that claim it shall be used for general purposes of the college.

DARING OUTRAGE.

An Indian Chief Brutally Beaten.

BRAINARD, Minn., Aug. 25. Hole-in-the-Day, a noted Chippewa chief, while en route to St. Paul last night, was taken from a Northern Pacific train at a way station, dragged into the woods and so brutally beaten that he is not expected to recover. It is supposed to have been the work of whisky men against whom he was going to testify in the Federal court.

THE OAR

Double Scull Race

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. Courtney and Conley paid no attention to the challenge issued by Hamm and Lee to the winners of the late double scull race at Pleasant Island, in which Courtney and Conley beat Gaudaur and Hosmer. Yesterday there was a meeting at the office of the Turf, Field and Farm and articles were signed for a double scull race between Hamm and Lee on the one side against Ross and Hamm on the other. The race is to be for $1,000 a side on September 11 at some place near New York, etc. to be selected. If the contending parties cannot agree on the referee, the stakeholder, Hamilton Busby, is authorized to appoint one and the [illegible] which does not now [illegible] $1,000.

The work on the new bridge attracts the attention of many volunteer inspectors. A platform was built yesterday upon which to run out a car to supply the stone for the pier.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM FIRE. There was a narrow escape from fire at the house of Mr. A. L. Thayer, No. 11 Howard street, on Monday evening. Two girls had gone up to bed, carrying a kerosene lamp, which in some way became overturned upon the bed, which took fire, and the lamp was also enveloped in flames. Their cries of alarm brought Mr. Thayer to the scene and catching up the lamp he threw it through the window screen out of doors, setting fire to the screen. Prompt work subdued the flames before any serious damage was done, but it was a narrow escape.

BASE BALL. There will be an interesting game of base ball at Maplewood Park this afternoon, when the Queen Citys will meet the Mutuals of Boston. The latter club, which has a fine reputation, came down on the Boston boat yesterday, confident of cleaning out both the Belfasts and the Queen Citys, and played with the former club yesterday afternoon, resulting in being shut out by 8 to 0 in favor of the Belfasts. It is expected that Oxley and Donovan will be the battery of the Queen Citys to-day. The game will be called at three o'clock. The Waltham's will play the Queen Citys on Friday and Saturday, and there will be three games played during Fair week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday forenoons.

Hathorn, Foss & Co., represented by S. Hackett of Lagrange and R. Bennett of Lambert Lake expect to commence operations upon their shook mill in about a fortnight. They will put up a mill about 80x40 feet in dimensions to be ready for operations in the spring.—David D. Morse had liquor seized from him yesterday by Sheriff Bacon, of Calais.

THE FLIGHT OF A RAVEN. One of our citizens has a raven, brought from Grand Manan and presented to him by a friend. Last Sunday morning, about church time the "bird of ill omen" fled him quite a chase. The bird has his wings clipped, but in spite of that is able to make short flights, and on that morning he started from the roof of the shed, to which he had obtained access by means of a ladder and flew into the next street. Our friend started after him, but the bird seemingly intent upon a greater liberty than he enjoyed, kept making flights from street to street until he found entrance to the dining room of a gentleman on Pine street, where he perched upon the back of a chair cocking up his eye to his pursuer and saying "nevermore," but in spite of his croaking he was recaptured and returned to his quarters.

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN HOULTON. Mr. George W. Ross, Treasurer of the Bangor Electric Light Company, made a visit to Houlton last week in relation to establishing the light in that thrifty town. The result of his visit must have been eminently satisfactory, as appears by a report in the Pioneer, which says: "Several of our prominent citizens met Mr. Ross, in the National Bank Directors' room, Friday afternoon when the Boston gentleman stated clearly and concisely and in a manner which at once found favor with all present his propositions and arguments in behalf of the electric light for Houlton. Mr. Ross left the room before adjournment in order as he put it to let the Houlton gentlemen 'talk it over' among themselves. From this 'talk' we are able to say that the indications now are that Houlton will have an established electric light system early in October. Of the seventy six lights (the capacity of the plant) it is safe to say that forty would be taken at the start, nearly that number having already been spoken for."

The Penobscot Musical Association

The Trustees of the Penobscot Musical Association desire to invite the attention of the music lovers of Bangor to the coming session of this Association and to interest others to make it a success musically and financially. Last year Mr. J. C. Bartlett of Boston, was conductor and assumed the financial risk. Those who attended will testify that the concerts were of a high order, as he brought with him the very best talent to be procured in Boston. The concerts were thinly attended and he met with pecuniary loss. To enable the Trustees to give concerts worthy of the Society and such audiences as Bangor can furnish, requires an outlay of several hundred dollars, that such a risk may be safely incurred, the Trustees desire to have a certain portion of it assured, not by a gift from any one, but by the sale of season tickets at two dollars each which admit to all rehearsals, two matinees and two concerts. To hear the same music by the same performers in Boston would cost not less than one dollar for each performance. Will not the few who can afford to go from home to hear and see whatever is desirable and pleasing help by taking these season tickets, to place within the reach of the many who are less fortunate an opportunity to hear artists render the music of the masters.

The singers of Bangor give their time and best endeavors to fit themselves to render a class of music, the study and hearing of which is a means of culture and refinement. Shall they not be sustained and encouraged in their laudable efforts and a society respectable, if only for its age, kept strong and vigorous?

A Famous Game of Ball

The playing of round ball, as the game was formerly called, but since changed to "base ball," was then, in 1844, much in vogue, and was an exhilarating and agreeable amusement, particularly health invigorating to men of sedentary habits.

Sometime during that season, a discussion arose between Samuel Cony, afterward Governor of the State, and Samuel L. Hunt, a distinguished lumberman upon the Penobscot, in regard to their respective merits in the game, which resulted in an agreement to play a match game, each to select their crew from the neighborhood, and play a game of fifty scores, upon the Wadleigh field, on the side of the Pushaw road. All questions arising in the game to be settled by R. M. Woodman, referee, who, although one of the most accomplished players, was not able to take part in the game from indisposition.

The forfeiture to be a supper at the Wadleigh house, to be gotten up by Mrs. H. N. West's best style, to be paid for by the losing party.

On a certain fair, beautiful October day the parties assembled on the Wadleigh field, Lorenzo Leadbetter catcher on one side and John Gordon upon the other and upon tossing up for innings Hunt won.

The game went on with varied success during the whole afternoon, until it had become so dark as to necessitate the stopping the play, the score at that time standing Hunt forty five and Cony forty, with the advantage of being in.

The supper was ready and could not be postponed to another day, and it was not proper to partake of it until the game was concluded. In this dilemma the expedient was adopted of finishing the game by pitching coppers and it was agreed by all hands that Cony and Hunt in company with the referee should retire to a private room and proceed to pitch. Cony having the inning was to commence and every head [illegible] turned up was [illegible] count a score in the game, but as soon as a tail turned up the party pitching was to go out. The sport went on with alternating hopes and fears until Hunt went in, having turned four heads, making his score forty nine, and Cony being [illegible] succeeded in turning his tenth head, bringing his score up to fifty, thus winning the game and the supper.

The meal was partaken of with that relish which only men can appreciate who have waited long, and have passed the time in active exercise.

After the viand had been fully disposed of and the appetites of all completely satisfied, the referee made his report, finding that the Cony party had won the game, but with many highly complimentary and no discredit to the losing party, who were to be equally complimented for their skillful playing.

Hunt, in response, accepting the situation, consoled himself and friends by saying that his party beat in the field, but when it came to pitching coppers he came in contact with a blacking who was better posted and more skillful than himself, and it was to that unfortunate circumstance that he had the misfortune to lose the game. ***

Old Town, Aug. 25.

HUGHES' POINT, ISLESBORO

One of our Subscribers who has just returned from a short stay down there with his family, furnishes us with the following: Among the numerous attractive places for cottage building in Penobscot bay I have found none more so than Hughes Head or Point, as it is otherwise called. Mr. F. H. Tebbets and Maj. Clayton purchased a number of acres here in 1880, building each a cottage, since which there have been added twelve others, making fourteen in all. Two are sufficiently large to accommodate fifteen to twenty boarders. One is kept by Miss Mary Alden, the other by Mr. Will Tebbets, which stands just at the head of the cliff close by the steamer's wharf and surrounded by water on either side where are kept plenty of boats for rowing and small for sailing and rowing. The place is very sightly, and one can see from ten to fifteen miles on either side without the aid of a glass. Four lights are in sight, that at Fort Point, also the house, Castine light and most of the village, Pumpkin Island and Eagle Island lights. Green mountain is also plainly in sight when the day is clear. Long Island is about two miles in length. The roads are good, very circuitous and attractive for riding on buckboards or in carriages, being lined in many places with thick growth and trees of various kinds. I was surprised to find so many excellent residences and extensive farms, abundance of apples and vegetables so that cottagers are supplied with all they want. Also milk, butter, eggs and fruit. The farmers have been greatly stimulated in raising these things as they find a ready market. I saw the first framed house built on the island now at least one hundred years old and still occupied by some one of the numerous Pendleton family. Long Island is wasp shaped, forming a [illegible] called the bar, on the road from Hughes to Pilder's, the water flows across from one side to the other and there is but about two hundred feet of land at any time. There is just back of the cottages here, a hill that rises some hundred feet or more, and on the top of this Dr. Hanson has built an observatory, which adds some fifty feet more I think, which is well patronised by visitors as it offers a fine view for miles around and in all directions. There have been two cottages added this year, Mr. Sinnott having just finished his, and there is room for many more. There is no lack of fresh water here as living springs are on every hand. The Cimbria stops here on some of her trips and another year will do so at each passage up and down from Bangor to Bar Harbor.

STATE OF MAINE.

Penobscot ss. August [illegible] A. D. 1885.

This is to give notice that on the 19th day of August A. D. 1885, a warrant in insolvency was issued out of the Court of Insolvency for said County of Penobscot against the estate of Frank H. Lougee of Bangor [illegible] Penobscot, adjudged to be an insolvent debtor, on petition of said debtor, which petition was filed on the [illegible] day of August A. D. 1885, to which last named date interest on claims is to be computed. That the payment of any debts to or by said debtor, and the delivery and transfer of any property by him are forbidden by law. That a meeting of the creditors of said debtor to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of his estate, will be held at a Court of Insolvency to be holden at the Probate Court Room in said Bangor in said County of Penobscot on the third day of September A. D. 1885 at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Given under my hand the date first above written.

JOHN F. BOOTH, Deputy Sheriff,
As Messenger of the Court of Insolvency for said County of Penobscot.

The Fashions.

[New York Evening Post]

Most of the new fancy ribbons are pearl-edged.

Hats for autumn appear to be growing higher and higher in the crown, a height materially increased in the trimmings employed. Milliners seem to be vying with each other in producing the most astounding effects.

Costumes of veiling, albatross, and other light and white wools will be worn far into the autumn, enriched by trimmings of ruby, dark blue, or myrtle-green, velvet ribbon trimmings replacing those of lace. Often a simple toning effect will be given by a vest and cuffs of velvet. There are also prepared jaunty coats in Louis XIV. style, made of the woolen goods, the fronts turned back with large revers of velvet, trimmed with handsome buttons. A drop turn over collar and wide gauntlet cuffs, also adorned with buttons, are added. These coats will answer in lieu of any other wrap as long as the dress itself proves a seasonable garment.

An American designer has just issued a number of very stylish and graceful polonaise models, and among them is one which would be particularly becoming to a slender person. The front is fitted to the shoulders snugly, but instead of the usual close darts, the polonaise front has clusters of very fine cross-shirrings at the throat and waist line, which draw the goods firmly to the form, the loose folds above the shirrings adding the fulness desired by a slender form. The folds below the belt-shirrings fall gracefully into the hip draperies, these also being shirred up at their back edges at a little distance below the waist line. The front edges of the back drapery are cut to fall in jabot-like folds, allowing for a pretty bright facing to show in and out up the entire length of the sides. This polonaise would be prettily made up in serge, camels' hair, bison cloth, cashmere, vigogne or any light woolen fabric which would admit of shirring.

There is literally no end to the variety of new basques and bodices, and these promise to become more and more varied and novel in caprice as the season advances. Upon a score of freshly imported costumes no two of the waist designs corresponded. The vest effect is still a very noticeable characteristic of the latest Paris models, but here as in other styles, they present an array of freaks and fancies which are quite a study for artist or modiste.

Among pretty morning jackets are those of Neapolitan red serge handsomely braided with a deeper color in a fine Arabesque pattern. These are designed for practical use and, for more dressy wear are jackets of Etamine, or ecru Llama net, or rich patterns in Escurial canvas, over linings of poppy-red surah, with lace trimmings to match, mingled with flats of poppy-red satin ribbon, with very often a blouse vest of the surah caught at the belt with a silver clasp. For evening an entire dress of these materials is extremely effective and becoming, appropriate for almost any occasion. The Yak and Spanish guipure drapings are much used over scarlet foundations, and because so serviceable toilets of this kind are really inexpensive, as in the end they take the place of half a dozen cheaper dresses.

There is a tendency to set all the trimmings at the back of some of the new hats. This suggests the idea, when one is adjusted, that the wearer, in a fit of absent mindedness, has made a mistake and put on her chapeau wrong side foremost, but wherever the trimmings may be placed, the fashion of piling up materials is as rampant as ever. All the loops and ends are fixed in a vertical position, and nothing droops, not even feathers. One hat showed two long prim gray quill feathers set up in the immediate front. Fixed in this position, they give the idea of a donkey who had either espied a thistle or heard a strain whistle, as the feathers looked like two long pricked-up ears.

Among French jacket models are those showing extra front pieces sewed into the side seams on the shoulders, and ending toward the front in very long points that are to be knotted gracefully below the stylish Vandyke collar of velvet which graces the neck of the jacket. The ends to some of these scarfs are richly hand-embroidered.

Various shadings of drake's neck blues and greens are charming in monochrome, or mixed with pale gold in tweeds, serges, and cheviots, with blue plush or velvet employed as garniture edged with gold cord. Upon a costly Parisian walking-dress in this color, a broad band of the velvet with gold cord set close to the edge, bordered the kiltings, and also formed the gilet, pelerine, cuffs, and toque.

The economical and becoming fashion of wearing a velvet basque with skirts of contrasting material is revived, and will be very popular the coming season. It is not at all essential, either, that velvet should enter into the construction of the skirt, for this may be of one, two, or three fabrics bearing no relation whatever to the velvet basque.

The long jersey-fitting pelisse will be in as great vogue as ever this autumn, and for "demi saison" there are a great variety of half-fitting garments in English style, and some exceedingly chic French redingotes, cut draped, and ornamented with especial view to answering the demand that invariably arises each season with a certain class of people for something absolutely striking and out of the way. They certainly have it in some of these, with their adornings of scarlet and gold braid-work, and dozens of gold buttons, will look like a daughter of the regiment or a natty French vivandiere.

A lovely garden party toilet recently worn consisted of a short princesse dress of pale cameo-tinted satin, sprinkled over with half open pink rosebuds and foliage, and bits of pale blue ragged robin blossoms. The skirt parted in front, the breadths each side lined with pale blue surah. Beneath was a kilted petticoat of plain pink satin, the kiltings bordered with lace laid on flat at the bottom. The drapings at each side were caught up with a shower of satin ribbons in mingled colors which reproduced those in the brocade. The square-cut corsage was adorned with lace alone, and the sleeves were wholly of lace. The long silk gloves were of a tea-rose tint, and black silk hose were worn with patent-leather Newport ties. The parasol was of white silk, with a pale blue lining, and heavily trimmed with white lace. The high crowned hat was of cream-colored Italian braid, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and rosebuds. A branch of blush roses was tied to the top of the parasol with blue ribbons, matching the shade of its lining.

Though less universally worn, the reign of large plaided material is not over, the style being given a new impetus by the fact that the trousseau of the Princess Beatrice included a number of tartan costumes for tennis, travelling, and promenade wear. Few of the now plaided costumes are made of these goods solely, plain woolen, a finer plaid, and often a striped goods in combination being considered more stylish. The latest models have a fan panel at the side, with tunic and vest or blouse front draped on the cross, the diagonal lines then not having the effect of increasing size. Many of the front drapings fall in deep kilted folds each side of the fan panel on the left, which is usually made of the checked and plain woolen goods combined, the tunic being of the large plaid. The jacket is then of the check, with flat or blouse vest of the large plaid, and collar and cuffs of the plain fabric. There is an entire absence of brilliant coloring in the most elegant plaids. Cream and pine green, marine blue and white, or Neapolitan blue and ecru, and like combinations prevailing. There are often five distinct shades of one color in the plaids of a single costume for instance, in olives, greens, dark wines, and browns without limit.

Mrs. Ezra Reed, fifty-eight years of age, the keeper of a large boarding house in Chicago, who was in Portland on a visit to her mother, died of heart disease Saturday noon.

Picking Peaches.

EMPLOYMENT FOR THOUSANDS OF HANDS—BUSY TIMES ON THE DELAWARE PENINSULA.

[New York World]

From Wilmington, Delaware, down the entire length of the peninsula the peach grows as naturally as corn, and there are few farmers near railroads or water courses who have not orchards to greater or less extent. Some peaches are already being shipped to the northern markets, but the most important shipments are yet to come. Every one likes a nice, ripe, juicy peach and the extent of the crop and consequent price of the peaches becomes therefore a matter of universal interest.

Every spring as regularly as the years roll round the prophecy goes forth that late frosts have killed the buds and that there will be no peaches the following summer, and though there is frequently some danger of this being true, nearly every summer proves the falsity of the prophecy. The trees send forth their blossoms very early in the spring, and these tender little flowers are very susceptible to the influence of cold. It is on this account that every little sudden return to cold weather, to which our springs are liable, calls forth the most lugubrious predictions from the grumblers. Another element of uncertainty in any early estimates of the crop is what is called the "June drop." At the first approach of warm weather the trees begin to take on redder hue, and soon the little pink blossoms begin to burst forth more coming each day, until the vast orchards present a complete blaze of glory with their coverings of pink and white blossoms, and here and there a green leaf thrusting its pointed nose wherever it can find an opening. The appearance of a large pink orchard in full bloom has been the cause of frequent remark by all who ever saw one.

As the blossom withers and comes off the minute, pale-green peach is left hanging in its place, and if no late frosts have destroyed the germs the number of these little peaches is almost equal to the number of blossoms. Should they all, or nearly all, mature, no tree would be strong enough to bear its load, and the consequence would be the splitting off of every limb before the peaches had attained half their size. Here Dame Nature steps in to adjust matters and during the month of June, when the fruit begins to assume its well known form and color, the trees are relieved of their surplus load, all that cannot be conveniently carried drop to the ground. This is what is called the "June drop."

Soon the fields will be swarming with human beings mounted on step ladders, boxes, barrels, and everything available plucking the fruit for their city customers. Even the "tramp"—that otherwise useless member of society—is pressed into service and he works with a vim and energy he is never known to use on any other occasion. Train after train will be loaded, and all day and all night they will follow one another in rapid succession on their way to northern markets. Of course, the destination of most of this fruit will be New York, which is the great market of the country for everything. The steamboats plying up the Maryland rivers will, however, carry much of it to Baltimore, which city, on account of its numerous canning establishments is a formidable rival of New York as a peach market.

Local canneries also use large quantities of them, and the evaporators are becoming quite generally introduced. The picking and packing of the peach crop gives employment to thousands of hands and at quite remunerative wages. The canneries and evaporators require many hands, as well as the growers, and thus all available labor is used at this season. Frequent complaints of scarcity of help is heard. Fruit and vegetable raising is rapidly converting this section into a veritable garden producing in abundance everything to tempt the appetite of even an epicure.

ECZEMA

And Every Specie of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

Eczema, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with Cuticura Soap, and a single application of Cuticura the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of Cuticura Resolvent, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scall Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

WILL MCDONALD, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema or Salt Rheum on head, neck, face, arms, and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap (the great skin cures) externally.

CHAS. HOUGHTON, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the Cuticura Remedies, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

MR. JOHN THIEL, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes:—I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of Cuticura, and four bottles of Resolvent have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease.

Sold by all druggists. Price: Cuticura, 50 cts.; Resolvent, $1.00; Soap, 25 cts. Prepared by the Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston, Mass.

BEAUTIFY the Complexion and Skin by using the Cuticura Soap.

"TIRED AND ACHING MUSCLES, crying through countless nerves for rest and relief." Like a dream to the children of Israel is the Cuticura Plaster to the tired over-worked aching muscle. Do not deny yourself the comfort a Plaster. In it is a new, original and speedy antidote to pain and inflammation. At druggists, 25c; five for $1.00. Mailed free. Doctor: "Yes; you are bilious. Just get a box of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, they will cure you."

FOR BILIOUS COMPLAINTS.

Bilious Complaints are caused by torpidity, congestion, or the ulcerat on of the liver.

The symptoms are dark, greasy, yellow skin, a brown or white coat to the tongue, appetite irregular, often a dry cough at night.

The skin sometimes breaks out into pimples and sores and the whole system lacks of order. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are one of the very best remedies known for any form of these troubles, and will certainly relieve the sufferer. They are purely vegetable, made from the best drugs by competent hands, and give satisfaction. They are very gentle in their action, causing no griping or unpleasant feeling to the most delicate. A trial will convince any one troubled with biliousness that Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills is the medicine he needs.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE. ONLY $1.

BY MAIL POST-PAID.

KNOW THYSELF.

A Great Medical Work on Manhood.

Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man. A book for every man, young, middle aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases each one of which is invaluable. So found by the Author, whose experience for 23 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt, guaranteed to be a finer work in every sense—mechanical, literary and professional—than any other work sold in this country for $2.50, or the money will be refunded in every instance. Price only $1.00 by mail, postpaid. Illustrative sample 6 cents. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the President of which, the Hon. P. A. Bissell, and associate officers of the Board the reader is respectfully referred.

This book should be read by the young for instruction, and by the afflicted for relief. It will benefit all.—London Lancet.

There is no member of society to whom this book will not be useful, whether youth, parent, guardian, instructor or clergyman.—Argonaut.

Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have baffled the skill of all other physicians a specialty. Such treated successfully without an instance of failure.
